

The Anthropology Collection

The Anthropology Collection explores the world of Anthropology through film.*

The Anthropology Collection, comprised of over 100 titles, covers the richness of anthropology through content from every continent and every major sub-discipline. With a focus on social-justice documentary, the broad-based collection provides an important window into human culture and diversity. With an emphasis on social issues such as racism, sexism, social discrimination, colonialism, the environment, class, poverty, displacement, human rights and more, Docuseek films encourage engagement, cross-cultural understanding and critical social awareness.

The Anthropology Collection includes films from renowned leaders in documentary film distribution, including Bullfrog Films and Icarus Films. Docuseek is the exclusive academic streaming source for these titles.
