

The SUSTAINABILITY Collection

The Sustainability Collection is a selection of documentaries for academic streaming covering the depth and breadth of the sustainability movement. The topics covered in this collection encompass a vast array of disciplines and approaches to sustainability, including new approaches to urban design in The Human Scale, Racing to Zero, and Biophilic Design; the implications of energy choices in Anthropocene and A Sea Change; the global impact of our consumption patterns in The True Cost and Just Eat It; and the re-envisioned food production and distribution systems of The New Green Giants and the Future Food series.

We are shown how design, conservation, community, and legislative action are all crucial components of a sustainable future at both local and global levels.
